

Early Childhood and Nature Workshop

featuring curriculum and activities from

PLT's Environmental Experience for Early Childhood,

Project WILD's Growing Up WILD,

and

Project WET's Getting Little Feet Wet

WHEN: Wednesday, May 22, 2019
8:30 am – 4:30 pm

WHERE: Hobbs State Park Visitor's Center
20201 E Highway 12, Rogers, AR 72756

COST: AEEA members $ 10 / Non-members $ 20

REGISTER: Visit www.arkansasee.org/newsevents/ to complete the Google form or email your Name, Affiliation, Email, and Phone # to info@arkansasee.org. Pay on the AEEA website via Paypal using a credit card or PayPal account or mail check payable to "AEEA" to AEEA, PO Box 149, Greenland, AR 72737.

This workshop will feature three internationally recognized environmental education curricula focusing on early childhood - Project Learning Tree, Project WILD, and available for the first time in Arkansas - Project WET's Getting Little Feet Wet. These three Projects provide respected and proven environmental education activities and curriculum targeting early childhood learners that are approved by the Arkansas Department of Education and Arkansas Professional Development Registry for 8 hours of professional development.

Each participant will receive 3 curriculum guides (over $60 value) containing hundreds of hands-on, engaging, interdisciplinary experiences for kids ages 3-7. Activities meet the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) criteria for curriculum and the Head Start Child Outcomes Framework.

Join us for this fun and educational day and learn how to implement these activities into your classrooms, camps, and educational programs. Participants must stay for the full 8-hour training in order to receive the curriculum guides and the 8 hours of PD. Space is limited and registrations are taken on a first-received first-reserved basis. Fee includes workshop materials, curriculum guides, music CDs, resources, and lunch.

This workshop is being hosted and sponsored by

